Joseph Lambert and VFW Post No. 6657

Some of the older residents of this town may recall an Army tank on the side of the road (Route 157) as you were traveling to Thacher Park. The tank, an M3 Stuart tank of World War Two vintage and adjacent building was the home of the Mountain View Memorial Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW) No. 6657. The post was started by a man named Joseph Lambert

Joseph Barnabus Lambert was born in Cambridge, New York on January 14, 1880. Around 1907, Lambert moved to the Thompsons Lake area and worked as a farm laborer. In 1908 he contracted "lockjaw" and nearly died.¹ By 1915 Lambert was living in the "Houck Neighborhood" area near Clarksville as a farmer.

In August of 1917, Joe Lambert joined the New York National Guard and was assigned to the 106th Field Hospital Company, 102nd Sanitary Train. He served overseas from June 30, 1918 until March 11, 1919 and was discharged from service in April of 1919. The following was published in the Altamont Enterprise newspaper on February 7th, 1919. It tells the personal experience of Lambert in France.

Above is an example of an M3 Stuart tank. This is not the tank that was at the VFW post. A photo of the original tank has not been found.

The letters printed below are written by Private Joseph B. Lambert of Voorheesville, who is with the 106th Field Hospital, 102nd Sanitary Train, in France, to his family. He has also sent home three letters of commendation from Major-General O'Ryan. The letters follow:

Nov. 16, 1918

Dear Sister and Babe:

I just had supper, but haven't washed my dishes yet. My fire got low and I am waiting for it to burn up. My stove is one of German make which I have lugged over half of France. I have had several chances to sell it for 50 francs, which is $10, but I can't see the joke. It is about the size of an oil heater, but burns wood or coal. The pipe is only three inches in diameter, and I have three lengths and an elbow. When it is packed it doesn't weight 15 pounds.

It is very cold here. The ground has been frozen for two days, so that my big army wagon does not break through and the riding is not very smooth. My "chateau" is about like your cook kitchen, but not any better: and for a window I have a bag, as there are but few whole windows in this country where I have been for the past three months. If I ever see a place that is not all shot up and see people again who speak my tongue I will have a fine visit ---I will talk myself sick.

I want you to be careful and not get sick: I don't like to hear it, as we have some experience over here with the influenza. I am careful of myself: I will stay up all night rather than lie down where it is damp and cold. I have done it several times. I have answered sick call only once, and that was in S.C. for my eyes. I have sat up nights and dried my clothes rather than take a chance, so I want you to take care of yourself.

I wish you could see the food it takes to feed our division one day. You would wonder where it came from. Of course, we are with the British and eat British Food. Will you have a bit of tea and cheese?

I have sent home a helmet and a gas mask and will try to send some other stuff when I get where I can buy it. It won't be much, but it will be all that I can send if I am allowed, to do so: so far I have been stopped.

President's Letter

I hope everyone has survived the winter! NSHA has not been hibernating during the cold dark season. The Collections Management team has been plugging away to provide digital finding aid by entering information on our holdings into Past Perfect software. Our monthly programs, held on the first Sundays of the month in the winter, have been well attended. The Historic Preservation Commission Committee has completed its work and a proposed Historic Preservation Law has been submitted to the Town of New Scotland and Village of Voorheesville boards. You can review the proposed law in this issue of the Sentinel or download it and an information sheet from the NSHA website or Facebook page. We have also been updating our Disaster Plan.

Spring will also be busy with activities. Our program schedule will return to the evening of the first Tuesday of the month for April and May. I particularly hope our members will be able to attend our May 7 membership meeting and a program on the History of the Local American Legion and Its Local Posts in celebration of the American Legion's Centenary year. I also hope you can follow the progress of the proposed Historic Preservation Law as it moves through the legislative processes of the Town and Village. Any support you can provide will be appreciated.

Our Nominations Committee will also be active in recruiting new Board and Committee Chair. We can always use volunteers for any of our committees or to staff the Museum, so please let any of our Board members know if you are interested.

Dec. 5, 1918

I am on guard til midnight. If you have any sun or any daylight to spare, send it over here. I have not seen any of either in several days. It has rained or been foggy here for two weeks. Daylight does not come until 7 a. m. and it is dark at 4:30 p. m.—and what long nights! I get the blues, with no lights but a candle, when I sit here and think. My home is like your woodshed. I sleep on a bunch of hay in the corner, but I can sleep any place: that is one thing I have got down pat.

I received two letters tonight and when I opened them I found that they were for another Joseph B. Lambert from Mississippi, so I must send them back to his wife, as they were written in last June and have been all over. I got your letter last night with Babe's in it. I hope you are both well.

It is raining quite hard now, for a change. I just went and looked at my horses, and after I get this letter written I must feed hay to them. It is some job in the dark, as they get to kicking and when 24 of them get at it I would rather be up in the front lines as there I have only to look out for one shot at a time; but when a fellow has 48 heels to watch it is ro "bom" as the French say.

Olin won't have to go as this thing is over with, as far as any more boys coming over. We have worked hard and I think done our bit, and are willing to do it again; and I think the people back home know it; at least Bill Kaiser does. Our division is in fighting condition, and any time he wants more we will be there. I think now that we will soon get ready to make our way toward home, but how soon I don't know. An army moves slowly, as it takes time, only when we are in the front lines then we move fast, as Jerry discovered. But to straighten things out now and get ready will take a little time.

You asked if I had been promoted. I understand I have, but have not been notified officially, so will not say that I have. One is not sure of anything in the army until one gets it, as orders change in a minute. In Myra's last letter she told me I am not writing often enough. Strange; I don't see how it could be so, as I am a great hand to write and would rather do it than not. I never let any one else do my writing.

Wishing you both a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year, I will close, hoping this finds you as well as it leaves me.

Dec. 11, 1918

I received your letter, telling how you had dreamed of peace. Well, if you could have been in the part of France where I was when peace came, you would have thought h___ had broken loose.

I have lost my ponies, so I have to hike now. They were turned over to another outfit, as we are running a big hospital and need all our men; but we will soon leave here, I understand. I have just had my supper, and here is what I had: Army beans, black coffee, bread and syrup. The syrup was the first I have had in six months. We have left the British and are by ourselves.

It has rained here for two weeks or more: every place we go it is rain, or it is so foggy and muddy that a fellow hates to move or stir. I have been busy today putting in a shower bath but it will take another day or two to finish it.

St. Cornellis, France, Dec. 22, 1918

I received your letter of Nov. 25. Yes, we have cold weather here. It hailed here yesterday and was quite cold, although it does not get as cold here as it did in the lines. Around the Hindenburg line it was very cold when we were in there, and up at Murritz, Bissigeny, St. Emel, St. Kuplag, and those places it was also very cold, but we are down toward Paris now.

Well, the war is over, and when I lie on my bunk and think of the things I have seen and done and gone through, I have the horrors. I have eaten and slept among the dead, and I have driven in and out to keep from running over them. I have seen all the misery and suffering I care to, but am willing to do it all over again if need be. I have smelled human blood for three weeks at a time. The whole country smelled like a slaughter house. Horses and men lay everywhere, but I never saw a tear stained eye; every man had that grave and stern look. I have seen the boys go into battle, I have seen them come out all ragged and muddy and hungry, but there was not a growl from a man.

Yes, Fred Frey is dead. He died at Rhuen, and he died for his country. The game is almost finished and we will soon be home. It may take a month or so, but we are still hard at work, as we are running a division hospital, as some of the boys have the mumps and heavy colds and we must take care of the men; but orders will come some day and we will start for home.

I did not expect to get anything for Christmas; I only sent the slip to let you know that the Red Cross, which you and Babe have worked for, it doing the fair thing by us boys. They never charge us for anything. When we were in the thick of it all, that Red Cross man with his cocoa, a few cookies, a piece of chocolate, some smokes, clean socks and towels, was there with a smile and a pleasant word. I have seen them give cocoa and cigarettes to the wounded when shot and shell were falling near them. I have had many a cup of hot cocoa and was glad to get it. I remember one night I left Hervillev to find my company, as I left them the day before and orders had changed, and I had the supply wagon and the boys must eat. I got word of the dispatch runner to meet them at Temple la Fiente. After driving nearly all night through the darkness, I missed them, as I had got into the reserve lines. I fed my horses and had cocoa, warmed some beans, and started and found my company at daylight. The Red Crossman had seen them take another road, and I was glad to get his cocoa. I have ridden more nights than days as we had to do it; but we have won, and that is enough.

Joe

After the war Joe went back to farming near Clarksville. In March of 1922 Lambert rented the “Helderberg Garage” in New Salem and was “ready to do business”.² The Lambert Family moved to New Salem in December 1923. Besides operating the garage, Joe ran a milk route carrying milk from the local dairy farms to the creameries.³

When World War Two ended Joe converted the Helderberg Garage into a gas station and grocery store. He saw a need for a Veterans of Foreign Wars post in the New Salem area. He helped establish the Mountain View Memorial Post No. 6657. Joe owned land above New Salem along Thacher Park Road that he donated a parcel to the VFW post so that a building could be erected. Beginning in 1949, the VFW post started having a annual carnival in a clearing across the road from King Krest on the corner of Indian Ledge Road to raise funds for the building project. By 1952 it appears that the building had been completed, for on Oct 4th there was “...a picnic at the new post rooms on Thacher Park Rd.”⁴ Joe passed away at his home in New Salem on June 30th 1953.

The Mountain View Memorial Post No. 6657 continued to be active until the mid-1970s. The VFW post on Thacher Park road is now apartments. The Stuart tank is gone. It was reported that the tank was sold to someone in Schoharie County.⁵

Prior to issuing any demolition permit on a building or structure more than 70 years old, the Village or Town Building Department shall notify the Historic Preservation Commission, by providing up to 30 days' written notice to the Chair or designee of the Commission, identifying the building or structure for which such permit is sought by address and name of owner or owners, unless, in the opinion of the Building Department, the structure poses an imminent danger to health and safety. The Commission shall evaluate and document the building or structure for historic or architectural significance appropriately, as may be necessary, during the 30-day notice period prior to issuance of any such demolition permit. The Commission may request an additional 14 days to evaluate and document such significant structures in cases where extensive research is required, which may be granted by the sole discretion of the Building Department.
